

Happy Ad Harassment

Tuesday, 02 March 2010 09:47

---

Stalking is something that can be done using various techniques. As it turns out, even with 'Happy Ads.' La Crosse cops are looking for a 53 year-old Onalaska guy for the unwanted attention he's been paying to a former flame. Apparently, she's got a restraining order against the guy--a former attorney--- but knows he's been watching her. He's also advertising in the classified section of the La Crosse Tribune. Just letting her know how much she's missed, apparently. A little too much for the woman who sees the Happy ads as harassment. Cops seem to agree because they're looking for guy.