

Not too often you wake up and your drugs are on fire. That's what happened to an Onalaska man who, along with a roommate, are now in jail facing drug charges.

On Monday, after Onalaska fire fighters put out a fire in the home of 24 year old Scott Stalsberg, they found drug drug paraphernalia and mushrooms in the basement. After a another search, police found more drug paraphernalia, mushrooms, marijuana and the prescription drug Hydrocodone.

Now Stalsberg along with 23 year old Justin Dahlberg are in jail facing a combined 5 drug charges. Another man from Madison who was staying in the residence was released on signature bond for possession of Marijuana.