

Proposed changes to Wisconsin DNR permitting rules have conservation groups up in arms. League of Conservation Voters head, Anne Sayers says a bill to hurry the pace of DNR permits for business takes streamlining too far

Among the provisions; one that would make approval automatic for DNR permit requests if the agency doesn't give an answer on an air, water or soil application within 30 days.