

Students Charged In Vandalism Acts

Friday, 16 December 2011 11:12

La Crescent Police are still investigating acts of vandalism around town. And they seem to have involved 10 high school students.

Chief Todd Nelson says the department's police report is not finished, and thus cannot be released yet. But the chief did say that 10 students from La Crescent High School were charged this week in connection with the vandalisms and that they seemed to be targeting faculty and staff from the La Crescent Schools.
