

Senator Johnson Comments On Survey

Tuesday, 20 December 2011 12:47

U.S Senator Ron Johnson is commenting on a recent survey that showed, by a two thirds majority, public discontent with Congress is at record levels. He takes issue with the fact that congress has passed bills this year...the senate has not acted on them. And congress passed a budget this year....the senate hasn't. Johnson summed up the survey, which said we have a congress with a do nothing record, this way.

Two thirds of those surveyed said current members of Congress should be voted out of office next year.
