

A billboard measure might not be the only advisory referendum on the spring ballot for La Crosse voters. The city council is set to vote Thursday on whether to hold a multiple-part question on billboards in April. But an additional issue that would ask voters whether the city council should decrease in size would also be on the ballot. An additional measure could also appear, related to the binding referendum that questions whether the city should change its form of government and add a top administrator.