A La Crosse guy has collected his second OWI apparently without having any booze in his system. Police say they got several complaints called in about Gerald Hill on Saturday. They say the 49 year-old was driving very erratically with a small child bouncing around in the back of the car. They say Hill was hitting curbs and drove up onto a snowbank at some point before they corralled him on West avenue. Police say Hill's eyelids were nearly shut. He'd apparently taken sleeping pills before he went for a drive at one o'clock in the morning with a small child unbuckled in the back.
