

A task force report on housing in La Crosse expected today. The city-county group has, for the past several months, looked for remedies to La Crosse's very poor housing stock.

Karl Green, with the UW Extension. He says a lack of enforcement of building codes and ordinances contributes to a lack of buyer confidence in the current housing stock.