

How many times do you hear stories about somebody in elected office getting a pay cut? Could happen in La Crosse if voters approve hiring a city administrator in the spring. A city council committee has approved slicing the mayor's salary by half if that happens

Karl Wiggert spoke in front of the committee about the change. If approved by the entire council next week and depending on the outcome of the referendum vote in April, the next mayor's salary would shrink to about 38 thousand dollars.
