

He said the law is needed to stop voter fraud. Now Governor Scott Walker's photo bill gets it's first real test today....primary day in the state. And La Crosse City Clerk, Teri Lehrke, says she hopes you bring your id today.

Voters will now have to show one of the eight state approved photo IDs and proof of residency if it's not already on the identification. The city clerk said they're using this primary as a test, to see if anything needs to be changed for the big elections coming up this year.
