

Minnesota released its new statewide redistricting map on Tuesday. The state almost lost a House seat in the redistricting process but managed to hang on to all of them, which led to minor changes in the map. And that bodes well for Winona Republican Senator Jeremy Miller. He says the process of approving the maps was a smooth one.

The big news is that Representative Michele Bachmann will switch congressional districts after Minnesota's new map placed her in the same district as Democratic Representative, Betty McCollum.
