A chance for women struggling with their finances to get checked out for a disease that can be stopped in its early stages. Franciscan Skemp's clinics in Onalaska and Tomah will be offering free mamograms to underinsured women between the ages of 40 to 65 says surgeon Kathleen Christian. Dr. Christian says 93 percent of women who have their breast cancer detected early survive the illness. Call (608) 392 - 7700 to make an appointment.
