

Some groups around the nation are hoping to stop legalized online gambling before it begins. Wisconsin Family Action is among the groups wanting congress to strengthen laws about internet gambling to keep states from seizing it as a revenue raiser for depleted coffers. Director Julaine Appling says expanding gambling would be detrimental to families

Appling says internet gambling would particularly create new addictions among young people.