

Cops: Friend Pushed Car Into Lagoon

Thursday, 15 April 2010 10:17

The car rescued from the water earlier this month at Pettibone Park by the Dive and Rescue Team? Pushed in, apparently. La Crosse cops say they've busted 48 year-old James Kennedy for pushing his buddies 2007 Malibu into the drink at Pettibone on April 5th. Apparently Kennedy was mad at his friend for an assortment of things. Had a set a keys to the car. His landlord told him he had to move it. So he did. Cops say he just put it into neutral near the Pettibone lagoon and gave it a shove. They recovered the car 18 feet under water about 25 feet away from the shore.