

Town of Campbell Among Skipperliner Creditors

Wednesday, 05 May 2010 08:34

Among creditors looking to get paid something back from Skipperliner in the town of Campbell: The town of Campbell. The boat builder on French Island entered bankruptcy owing the town for a pass-through loan of sorts from the state. Outstanding balance: about 350 thousand dollars. Town of Campbell administrator Travis Parish says the town's on the hook for that. He says Skipperliner also owes the town about 322 thousand dollars in harbor lease payments. The boat builder hasn't made a payment on the harbor since December.