

Hockey Mask Robber Not Caught Yet

The robber in the hockey mask hasn't turned up yet...

Three days after a holdup at the Firefighters Credit Union in downtown La Crosse, police have not made an arrest in the case. Lieutenant Bob Berndt says people have called, suggesting they might know who the robber was, but police don't have a clear I-D yet. The gunman who took money from the credit union wore a mask the entire time he was in the building. Investigators have not found out where he ran after the robbery.
