

For La Crosse's Gretchan Gillam, Governor Scott Walker accepting $12 billion in federal money for Badgercare....would help her family greatly.

\(Click for Audio\)

Local democrats said Monday, at a press conference in La Crosse, that Governor Walker can eliminate the current waiting list for BadgerCare, save Wisconsin millions of dollars, and reduce the healthcare costs to businesses by taking the federal money, but he's still considering turning it down. Walker says he will announce his decision later this month, when he unveils his proposed state budget for the next two years.