

A series of so-called 'obituary burglaries' in Trempealeau County may have been solved with a couple of arrests...

Seth Furgason of Junction City was captured last week, and is accused of researching death notices in order to find houses to rob. One such burglary took place at a home near Whitehall, where guns and several chainsaws were stolen a few days after the death of the person who owned the items. Evidence connecting Furgason to the burglaries was found at a house in Wisconsin Rapids, where his girlfriend lives. The girlfriend has admitted to helping Furgason with the break-ins.
