

Can't get ammo for your Glock? You're not alone. Police all across the country are stuck in the same ammunition shortage that civilians are. And, for the La Crosse police, that ammo shortage is months away from being rectified

\(Click for Audio\)

La Crosse police lieutenant Pat Hogan. He says the department is relying more heavily on simulation exercises for training; still firing a weapon, just without live rounds.