

Architects in West Salem are still discussing what to do with the current middle school. Replace, abandoned or demolish . Superintendent Troy Gunderson said it was brought up Monday night and the response was to keep talking about it.

\(Click for Audio\)

Gunderson says those figures will be talked about again next week as board members try to find a way to take on increased enrollments there.