

Winona State Campus Shooting

Monday, 18 October 2010 11:10

Winona Police continue their search for a man who shot two women near the WSU campus late Saturday night. Witnesses say a college-aged, possibly light-skinned black man, shot the two after an altercation and fled the scene.

Officers interviewed a "person of interest" in the shooting, but no arrests have been made.

The names of the victims, two 19-year-old women, was not released, however, because the women fear for their lives. One woman was shot in the leg, while the other had a graze-type wound on her abdomen. What exactly led to the shooting is still unclear.
