

Dump The Scrubs???

Tuesday, 04 January 2011 11:39

To better help patients identify their caregivers and co-workers know who is who....a new dress code went into effect throughout the Gunderson Lutheran Medical System Monday.

Registered nurses will now wear white tops and navy bottoms.....LPN's will now wear a Caribbean blue scrub and medical assistants will wear a charcoal grey scrub. No word yet as to what color nursing assistants will wear.

Kathy Koehne says that discussions and studies have gone on for the past 2 years about the apparel change and the effects it would have on patients primarily.
