

$9 Million Probably Not All for Storm Damage in La Crosse

Wednesday, 25 May 2011 11:35

Nine million in damage in La Crosse might be on the low end. Tornado damage dollar amounts provided to the state from the county say that's how much property damage Sunday's storm caused. County emergency management boss, Keith Butler says damage estimates are typically low ball figures and he's making a rough guess at how much damage the tornado actually caused. Butler says it will take weeks for a final cost analysis to be done in the city.
