

No teacher layoffs coming. That's the word from the Lacrosse School District on this, layoff deadline day, across the state.

Human Resources Director Steve Salerno says because the student enrollment projections that were done during the winter showed that the district needed 5 fewer teachers this year, it made the layoff process a bit easier.

Another deadline hits districts today as well. Health insurance for teachers. Salerno says they are still looking into whether or not to stay with the state's insurance, enroll more in the WEA plans or bid out for more competitive prices.
