

Deliberations by the La Crosse city council starting this week on whether to add hundreds of thousands of dollars in new fines and fees. A wide-ranging list of fees to be considered by city council committees starting tomorrow include a higher parade fee, one for escort services, and a launch fee at the city boat ramps. Dozens of possible new fees and higher fines could add up to $700 thousand in revenue to the city budget next year.