

The La Crosse city council begins work tonight on approving another season for a warming center in the city. Should be a slam dunk, says police captain Bob Lawrence, because the warming center fills a need that the Salvation Army won't

Last winter was the first for the warming center at First Baptist Church on West Avenue. It's privately funded and staffed by volunteers.