

Drug Drop Off This Saturday

Wednesday, 02 November 2011 12:04

The Onalaska Police Department and their partners have been sponsoring medication disposal drops since 2010. And in that time, they have gathered over 2 thousand pounds of unwanted medicines. Onalaska Police Officer Jasson Jobe has been working with the drop offs since the beginning...and what they are accepting at this Saturday's unwanted prescriptions and over-the-counter medicines.....he has memorized.

The drug drop off, which happens from 9-Noon, is part of Onalaska's ongoing Project 365 which is a proactive year-long crime prevention initiative.
