

GAB Reverses Tech College Voting ID Rules

Wednesday, 09 November 2011 17:24

State election officials, Wednesday, reversed themselves and will allow technical college students to use their school IDs to vote. Good news to Lee Raasch, President of Western Technical College.

The board met Wednesday to revisit the college i.d. interpretation. After listening to tech college officials and students argue their school IDs deserve to be included, the board voted 6-0 to allow the practice. Board member Timothy Vocke said the board was wrong in September.
