

Watch Where You Hunt

Tuesday, 15 November 2011 17:40

A couple of years ago, the DNR dropped the requirement that landowners had to post no trespassing signs on their property. As Wisconsin opens up the gun deer season this weekend, Lacrosse County Sheriff Steve Helgeson says, that issue will keep his deputies busy once again.

Helgeson also reminds hunters that if you shoot a deer and it crosses onto someone's property where you do not have permission to be.....you must get the landowners permission to enter their land to track that deer. The gun deer season open Saturday in Wisconsin.
