

Besides talking voter id rules today.....a senate rules panel is discussing the Government Accountability Board's decision to let technical college students use their school I-D's at the polls. And Sheboygan Senator Joe Liebham was knee deep in the debate.

At issue is whether technical college students will be able to use their college id 's at the polls.....something that was supposed to be hashed out last week.