

Guy Banned From Nationwide Chain

Monday, 21 November 2011 13:35

One guy from La Crosse won't be getting the typical welcome from Wal-Mart greeters this holiday season. The 21 year-old's been banned from Wal-Marts nationwide. Part of his punishment for going on a thieving spree at the La Crosse and Onalaska stores over the last couple of months. Police suspect him of stealing perhaps thousands of dollars worth of Blu-Ray discs. Apparently, he just grabs the discs and runs out the door to his car that he leaves running outside, sometimes using his girlfriend as the getaway driver. He's pawned the discs for over a thousand dollars at a local pawn shop and video game store. Apparently feeding his heroin addiction with the cash.