

As quite a few towns in the area start to look at long range goals....the Village of Homen has their sites set on buildings. And to build or not to build anew library has become first and foremost says village President, Nancy Proctor.

She says several board members have chimed in lately on other building needs....they are on paper now....and possibly could see action this year.