

The public hearings are over.....public meetings are over.....and now it's a sit and wait game for those involved in the CAPX 2020 high voltage transmission line project. Tim Carlsgaard has gone to over 50 of these meetings and says in the end.....the public for both sides of the project came out and spoke.

The state's Public Service Commission will now go over all of the plans and all of the public comments and will rule in June where the lines will go and how powerful they will be. Construction would begin in 2013, with the line in service by 2015.
