

Mayor Floats Idea Of Selling Permits For Parade Spots

Thursday, 05 April 2012 11:49

If Oktoberfest needs more sources of funding, how about issuing permits for spots along the parade routes?

La Crosse Mayor Matt Harter says it's an idea worth studying...and such a permit might allow the holder to drink openly at the parade site, which is not allowed now. Harter suggests a permit fee of around $5 to $10. He brought up the permit idea during an appearance today on "The Morning Sickness" on 95-7 The Rock.
