

It's over? Rick Santorum has dropped out of the republican presidential primary race. But there's still delegates to be had out there. Time for the party to talk unity says La Crosse county republican party chair, Julian Bradley

Santorum's announcement that he was leaving the race comes just a week after losing in Wisconsin's primary. He did however, carry La Crosse county quite handily.