

Man Jailed In La Crosse For Allegedly Raping Another Man

Monday, 16 April 2012 15:48

A night of drinking and doing drugs has led to a rape charge against a Viterbo student. Police have arrested Dennis Campos for raping another guy after the two got drunk and high together. Cops say the 21 year-old Campos met the victim in a bar downtown and bought him drinks. They went back to Campos' apartment, apparently smoked some pot, took some pills, after which the victim passed out. Police say Campos then carried the victim to his bed and raped the unconscious 22 year-old. Cops say Campos has admitted the assault took place. Bond for Campos has been set at $5000 cash.