

It was a special send off this morning at the Onalaska Kwik Trip as 60 local Special Olympics participants headed to Stevens Point for the state summer games. It's the 40th year for Special Olympic and it's also the largest fundraiser for law enforcement. La Crosse's Edward Flood has been there before and tells us he looks forward to going back again.

Officers from La Crosse and Onalaska were on hand, biking from one city to the other before hitting the highway to Stevens Point.
