

Rock Vandals Hit Downtown Car Dealer

Tuesday, 03 July 2012 06:55

Quite a mess to clean up at a downtown La Crosse car dealership after week-end vandals went after several vehicles. Pischke motors was the target this week-end for somebody with a rock and a need to vent artistically by scratching through the paint on 15 new cars and trucks. Thousands and thousands worth of damage. One car had "Go Oshkosh" scrawled into the back. A few suffered crude drawings of penises. One had initials. Another just had the word "ghouls" scratched into the paint. No suspects yet but police think the vandalism could be connected to a similar attack at a parking lot nearby.
