

In her 8 years as Executive Director of the Coulee Region Humane Society, Heather Schmid says she has seen the stray dog population go way down. As for cats? Well.....that's still another story.

She says education on the matter has gotten better over the years....but it will take the entire community to become educated on the dog and cat populations to keep them down. Schmid's last day at the Humane Society is tomorrow.