

The new crop of young teachers within the La Crosse School District have brought with them a wealth of knowledge....and not just teaching. They know how to use some of the most popular technological items.

\(Click for Audio\)

Superintendent, Randy Nelson says they have been working with some of the veteran staff on how to use I-Pads and Tablets...which are found in almost every classroom now. He says the training from young to old has gone very smoothly.