

The La Crosse area United Way needs a new leader...

The president of the Great Rivers United Way board, Jon Trapp, confirms that director James Falvey was dismissed from his post last week. No reason has been given yet, but an official statement is expected soon. Falvey had been president at the Great Rivers office since December of 2010. The United Way recently launched its fund-raising campaign for this fall.