A La Crosse hotel lost cash in a week-end robbery. Police say a guy robbed the Brookstone inn at gunpoint at about five on Sunday morning. The employee cleaned out the cash drawer and handed it over while staring down the barrel of the handgun pointed at him by a short white guy wearing a hoodie. No arrest yet, but police do have the whole thing recorded on the hotel's video security system. They also have video from a nearby bar showing the guy getting into a car.
