

To lid or not to lid. That's a question facing the La Crosse city council this week. City council president Audrey Kader wants to roll back the requirement in the city's new garbage regulations that all cans have lids when they go to the curb. City council member Doug Farmer doesn't like the idea.

One argument to do away with the lid requirement is that some of them tend to blow away easily.