

You may be see a wave of people vying to be the next mayor of La Crosse. We'll start to get a clearer picture of that once those candidates begin circulating signatures on Saturday. Although mayor Matt Harter won't be among those running, he says that he may support a candidate

\(Click for Audio\)

Harter says, although fiscal responsibility will be an important attribute of the next mayor, there are many other issues that candidates for the office should consider when running.