The flu strains going around are types A and B. But if you visit a local emergency room and your test comes back negative for those flu strains, Mayo Clinic Heath Systems, Erif Gruby, says don't be surprised.

(Click for Audio)

The number of flu cases in Wisconsin hospitals has almost doubled from last flu season. Gruby says it's the worst outbreak since 2009.