

Bomb Threat Clears La Crescent High

Friday, 21 May 2010 16:36

A short school day for students at La Crescent High School, because of a bomb threat.

Superintendent Ron Wilke says a threat was discovered in a restroom early Friday afternoon. Middle and high school students and staff were evacuated to the nearby community arena. at the usual end of the school day. Police have spent the afternoon inspecting the school. They might allow students and staff back in tonight to get their belongings, after they give an all-clear.
