

Ever thought of having a classroom or college dorm named in your honor? All it takes is a donation and voila. Michael Peepers with Western Technical College says they reviewed their naming rights policy this week and it's not just individuals who get that chance to have their name on a building.

\(Click for Audio\)

He says the board met this week to make sure the policy in place is solid as new buildings come to light in the near future.