

Running Yellow Light Leads to Drug Bust

Monday, 15 April 2013 09:34

Running a yellow light. Some fast food wrappers in the backseat. The overwhelming smell of room freshener. Enough for a La Crosse cop to call the drug dog out on a car full of young people on Friday. Police say the officer used all those clues to determine the car was being used to transport drugs. The department's drug dog proved him right. They found bags of pot, a scale and a grinder in the car. Tyler Nagel and Allen Carder, both 18 and from La Crosse, have been busted for dealing.
