

Onalaska's Deb Markos was just about to cross the finish line at Monday's

Boston Marathon...when two bombs went off.

\(Click for Audio\)

Markos, who flies home tonight tells us she thought she was going to die. She was running with a group of friends from the La Crosse area. All are ok.