

Control Towers To Remain Open

Monday, 13 May 2013 08:11

The Federal Aviation Administration is keeping open for now the 149 control towers at small airports that were slated to close as the result of government wide automatic spending cuts imposed by Congress. Congressman Ron Kind says it should be a lesson learned when talking sequestration .

\(Click for Audio\)

Clinton Torp, Airport Manager in La Crosse says the La Crosse Tower provides an important safety function and also ensures continued economic growth for the region.